DRAW TWO SALARIES

Stenographers Are Up
Against the Auditor.

Auditor Fisher has called the attention of the Governor to a peculiar situation whereby government employees are receiving, practically, two salaries from the public treasury, and the matter will go to the courts for a settlement. This involves the stenographers in the Circuit Courts.

The stenographers of the First Circuit Court receive a salary approximating $150 per month for their services. They have the opportunity of adding largely to their income by making transcripts of evidence for attorneys, who pay so much per folio for the material.

In all cases of appeal, where the Attorney General's office is involved, transcripts were required by the Attorney General and the stenographers charged that official as they have the attorneys. A fund has been provided for incidentals for the Attorney General's Department, and payment for the transcripts was made from this money.

Now Auditor Fisher has raised the point that the stenographers are practically drawing two salaries and wants the matter decided by the courts. The Governor, as well as the Auditor and Attorney General, contend that the stenographers are employees of the government and should make up such transcript for the Attorney General's Department without extra compensation.

KAAI AGAIN WANTS TO BREAK A WILL

C. W. Ashford has revived the case of Junius Kaa who has sought in previous years to set aside the will of Keali'ohou, under whose will is involved the estate of Mrs. A. A. Haalelea. The latter was the widow of Levi Haalelea, whose former wife was Kekaua'ohi, the widow of Keali'ohou.

Mr. Ashford moves for a writ of error to review Judge Gear's ruling in which he dismissed the petition of Junius Kaa filed originally in 1892, wherein was asked the revocation of the probate of the will filed in 1852.

The property involved is said to be worth a mint of money, being located in Nuuanu.

COURT NOTES.

Defendant in the action of The Bank of Hawaii, Ltd., vs. Kapiolani Estate denies all the allegations made by the plaintiff.

In the matter of the estate of Henry Congdon, deceased, up before Judge Gear yesterday, witnesses were examined as to the value of the real estate, and the master's report was confirmed. The court will also sign an order for the sale of real estate that the widow may obtain her dower interest.

DONE BY TRYING.

Nobody can tell what he can do till he tries. When a thing ought to be done the modern spirit moves us to keep working away at it until it is done. In the face of this idea the "impossible" vanishes. Where there's a will, there's a way. "If we could but rob cod liver oil of its sickening taste and smell and then combine it with two or three other ingredients we should possess the best remedy in the world for certain diseases that are now practically incurable." So said a famous English physician twenty-five years ago. "But it will never be done," he added. "You can no more turn cod liver oil into a palatable medicine, than you can turn the Codfish itself into a Bird of Paradise." Yet he lived to admit that in WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION the "impossible" had been accomplished. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. This remedy is freed from the bad peculiarities Dr. Frothingham so detested, and it is precisely the splendid medicine he wished for. Use it freely and confidently for Hysteria, Wasting Complaints, Anemia, Blood Impurities, Asthma, and Throat and Lung Troubles. Dr. W. H. B. Aikins, Physician to Toronto General Hospital, says: "I am much pleased to state that the results from using Wampole's Preparation of Cod Liver Oil have been uniformly satisfactory; it appealed to me as being prepared according to correct scientific principles." It increases the appetite and influences the digestion of food; it is delicious to take, will not disappoint you, and is effective from the first dose. One bottle convinces. At all chemists.

PRECINCT DIVISION

Increases Costs But Purifies the Methods.

In a short time the division of some of the larger precincts in the Fourth and Fifth districts will be announced from the Secretary's office. Secretary Atkinson and Chief Clerk Buckland have been working on the matter for some time.

Governor Carter stated yesterday that the matter had been brought to his attention before he departed for the east and he was heartily in favor of it. Since then he says that pressure has been brought to bear to let the precincts remain as they are as the parties had their organizations complete within them, and the political divisions of the island should therefore not be disturbed.

"I have declined to accept this view of the case," said the Governor yesterday. "It is my belief that in crowded voting sections there is more or less likelihood of corruption than in precincts with smaller voting lists. In the latter class of precincts there is more opportunity for individuals to know one another. When a bus comes up to a booth in a heavy voting precinct, loaded with supposed voters, there is not always the opportunity to know whether this or that man has a real residence in the precinct. Where smaller groups of voters are maintained, this cannot occur."

"Of course this will increase the cost for each election, but in the interest of clean voting, it must be done. In some precincts where there is a very small voting list—too small—a portion of a heavy voting precinct can be added to it, thus entailing no added cost."

"Some of the politicians have told me that if certain precincts are divided it will break the machine. I would rather build up a new machine where everything will surely be conducted right than to keep a machine going where there is chance at times to find dishonest politics."

"I believe in the long run these people will find that the division of the precincts as outlined will be the better plan."

Among the precincts proposed to be divided in the Fourth district are the first, fourth, and eighth. In the Fifth district the "Fighting Seventh" is proposed for division, although it is said that the population of voters has been greatly diminished owing to the closing up of Kalihi Camp.

There are instance on Hawaii where a division of precincts would be beneficial, according to the Governor, where in cases men have to ride twenty miles to cast a vote. This, he believes, entails too much sacrifice on the part of the voter, and he proposes a division there to cut down the distance from home to ballot box.

Temporarily Aroused.—"That bell," said the proud Philadelphian, pointing to the old Liberty Bell, "over one hundred years ago awoke our citizens to the fact that they were a free people." "And from common report," replied the visitor, "you have been asleep ever since."—(Yonkers Statesman.)

"COMBUSTIO" WAS NEW

Health Officers Run
Across Queer
Disease.

"Combustio," was the novel name for a cause of death attached to a certificate yesterday by a Japanese physician.

"Spirit of Kitasato," exclaimed Dr. J. S. B. Pratt of the Board of Health as he examined the certificate.

Secretary Charlock took the paper from the hands of the Chief Sanitary Officer and gazed at it with the air of a man who is in the habit of solving mysteries.

"Combustio—combustible," he muttered as if declining a verb, and then sighed with relief as he exclaimed: "Ah, I have it, he was run over by an automobile; that's it sure."

Dr. Pratt was unsatisfied and began looking through a Webster's dictionary, but closed it without success. A medical glossary was consulted with equally barren results.

"I tell you what we'd better do—examine the body," said Charlock, "that will give us a clue."

On opening the coffin, when the remains were deposited in the morgue, the mystery was solved.

The man had been badly burned at one of the plantations on this island several days ago, and death had resulted from that.

"Well, wouldn't that jar you," said the doctor as he lighted his tenth cigar, "that's a new one on me."

There was a busy day at the morgue yesterday. First came the remains of Alb. Kallweit, who died suddenly yesterday forenoon. Mr. Kallweit conducted a small art store on Fort street next the harness shop opposite the Club Stables.

Then came the body of a Japanese woman, whose death was due to jaundice. Later in the day came the remains of William Goodman, an inmate of the Home For Incurables, who committed suicide there.

VICTOR BLUE MUST RETURN TO ORIENT

Lieut. Victor Blue will probably pass through Honolulu shortly, en route to the Orient. Town Talk says:

Lieutenant Victor Blue, U. S. Navy, the modest hero of the Spanish war and of the Chinese expedition, to whom I referred recently, passed through San Francisco last week, en route East, having been ordered to temporary duty at Morristown, N. J. Blue had quite a shock upon his arrival here. He had been three years in Asiatic waters and was homeward bound, anticipating a few months of rest in the United States with his family, who accompanied him. No sooner had the China, which brought him, reached her dock than he was handled orders attaching him to the Buffalo, which has suddenly been ordered back to China. It was as fine an illustration of the uncertainty of a naval officer's life as could be desired.
